

Give your smile style

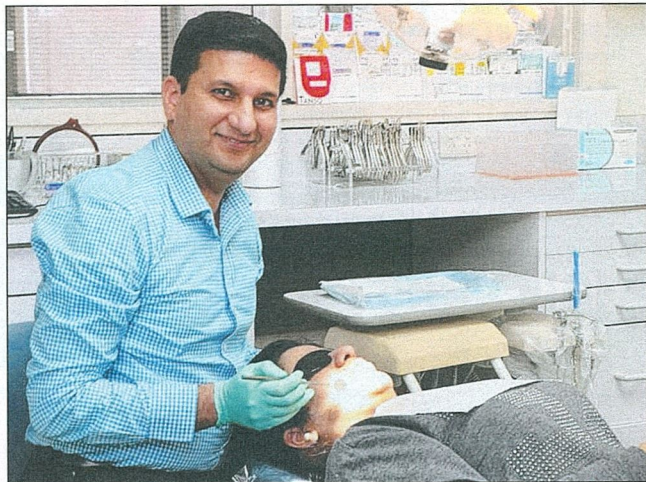

IF YOU feel self-conscious about your teeth, you're not alone - some 70 per cent of adults feel the same way.

Angle House Orthodontics specialist orthodontist Dr Gopal Kataria says an innovative treatment with Invisalign means you can correct your smile without anyone knowing.

Dr Kataria, who is a platinum elite provider of Invisalign, says the product uses a series of clear, removable, very comfortable and virtually invisible aligners to gradually move your teeth into the desired position.

More than 3 million people worldwide have straightened their teeth and improved their smile with Invisalign. "It's the modern way to straighten your teeth without anyone noticing," Dr Kataria said.

"Technology is changing the way we do things - the way we straighten teeth is no exception.

"While traditional braces still serve an important purpose in orthodontics, adults are often relieved to know there is an effective alternative for them."

Angle House Orthodontics offers other options, such as clear and metal braces.

As advised by the Australian Society of Orthodontists, Dr Kataria and his team recommend children receive an orthodontic consultation by the age of eight.
